Trey Furr & Thad Rummage

Trey Furr, DPT, ATC, CSCS

Jack. C. Furr III, or "Trey" as he is known to family and friends, is a native of North Carolina and has lived in Arizona for the past 16 years. He received his undergraduate training at Southwestern Adventist University in Texas, his Master's Degree in Physical Therapy from Loma Linda University (1999), and his Doctor of Physical Therapy from A.T. Still University, Arizona School of Health Sciences(2009). Trey also is a Certified Athletic Trainer, and a Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist.

Trey has had multiple experiences in the physical therapy and sports medicine fields. He has been a staff physical therapist (eight years) and a Lead Physical Therapist (two years) for Yavapai Regional Medical Center (YRMC). Trey has experience working with a variety of patients with orthopedic and neurological complications as well as various joint injuries. He also is able to evaluate and cast for foot orthotics for people with foot ailments.

He along with Thad Rummage, his partner in The BioMechanics team, have been contracted with Embry Riddle Aeronautical University to provide athletic training services for athletes in wrestling, volleyball, soccer, and rugby. Trey and Thad have also been involved in providing Sports Medicine services to local amateur and professional rodeo cowboys during Prescott Frontier Days Rodeo and Roughstock Explosion events.

Thad Rummage, DPT, ATC

Thad Rummage, a native of Prescott Arizona, received his undergraduate degree from Northern Arizona University (1995), and his Master's Degree (1998) and Doctor of Physical Therapy (2006) from A.T. Still University, Arizona School of Health Sciences. He also became a Certified Athletic Trainer in 1995. Thad spent four years in Alaska in a hospital-based outpatient physical therapy clinic. There he was a general orthopedic physical therapist working with many injured on the "North Slope" oil fields. While in Alaska, Thad was trained in ergonomic assessments through Situs Inc.

Thad returned to Prescott, Arizona in 2002. He worked for Yavapai Regional Medical Center (YRMC) in the outpatient physical rehabilitation clinic until 2009. During that time, he also was contracted by Embry Riddle Aeronautical University to provide athletic training services for its collegiate level athletic program along with Trey Furr, his partner in The BioMechanics Team. Thad has worked with all levels of athletes from grade school to professional athletes in football, wrestling, volleyball, basketball, rugby, baseball, track, cross-country, tennis, rodeo, and gymnastics.

Also at YRMC, Thad further broadened his experience in the treatment of injuries and conditions related to aging. He gained invaluable experience in this setting working with total joint replacements of the hip and knee, as well as other orthopedic conditions such as rotator cuff injuries and back problems. Evaluating and casting for foot orthotics have become a special interest of Thad's to further enhance the physical therapy he provides.

Thad and Trey enjoy the challenge of helping people heal and rehabilitate from any injury. Because of their work and life experiences, they can work with people at any place in life: growing, playing, working, enjoying retirement, or maturing. Whether in the physical therapy clinic, on the playing field, rodeo arena, or in the game of life, the vision of The BioMechanics team is to "... help you perform better in your world."
